

THE STORY BEHIND THE STUDIO

Built on movement. Driven by story.

THE FOUNDER

My name is Zen Nguyen.

I was born in Vietnam, where movement was my first language. Before I ever picked up a camera, I was a dancer — learning how to tell a story with my body, how to command a room without saying a word. That instinct never left me. It just found a new medium.

In 2013, I moved to the United States for college. A new country, a new language, a new lens on the world. Kansas City became home — a city that quietly holds more culture, more hunger, and more talent than most people realize.

I started Zenematic because I believed something: that every brand has a cinematic story inside it. Most never find it. Not because it isn't there — but because nobody looked for it with the right eyes.

I look for it. Every single project.

WHY ZENEMATIC?

Zen is my name.
Cinematic is my obsession.

The two were always going to find each other.

But it's more than a name. Zen — the philosophy — is about presence. Intention. Doing one thing with complete focus. That's how we approach every frame we shoot, every story we tell, every brand we work with.

"Zenematic isn't just a name. It's a standard."

HOW WE WORK

Cinematic first

Every project starts with a visual language. We don't shoot and figure it out in the edit. We know the story before the camera rolls. Every frame is intentional — never accidental.

Intention over volume

We don't take every project. We take the right ones and give them everything. Quality over quantity is not a philosophy — it's a practice. It shows in the work.

Culture is the canvas

Sports, fashion, entertainment, community. We work where culture lives and moves. Our lens is shaped by Vietnam, KC, dance, and a decade of reading rooms and reading crowds.

Built to grow with you

Zenematic isn't a one-time vendor. We build creative partnerships that compound over time. The best work happens when we understand your brand as well as you do.

THE STUDIO

Zenematic is led by Zen Nguyen and built on a growing network of Kansas City's most talented creatives.

Editors, photographers, producers, and directors who share one standard: cinematic or nothing. We collaborate with the best in KC to bring every project to life at the level it deserves.

We're building something here. Come be part of it.
